I am very happy to put this issue of Journal of Indian Library Association (JILA) before you professionals. Hope everybody will like it. Ten articles are included in this issue. Kuladip Barman and Nayana Borah done the Scientrometric analysis of the articles published on 'Almetrics' indexed in Scopus in their article 'Research Output On Almetrics: A Scientometric Analysis'. Using same database (i.e. Scopus) Abhay Maurya and Amit Kumar analyzed the research contribution of Nobel laureates in Chemistry during 2014 to 2018.

Newspaper is one of the most popular and traditional medias for transmission of latest news. Nowadays this media is also available on Internet. Ankita Saloi evaluated the websites of newspapers published in Assamese language in her article using Alexa Internet. A study of growth rate of publication on 'Entropion' and also the publication trend on it is analyzed in an article titled 'Publication Trends In Entropion (2001-2020): A Scientometric Analysis' authored by Dr. P. Gomathi and Mr. S. Anbarasan.

The Consortium for e-Resources in Agriculture (CeRA) is an e-Consortium of Agricultural Libraries under the Indian Council of Agricultural Research for National Agricultural Research and Education System (NARES) Libraries. It is the most popular consortia among the scientist engaged in the research on Agriculture and allied sciences. Awareness and utility among the students of Uttar Banga Agriculture University, Pundibari is studied by Priyanka Neogi and Dr. Bhanu Partap in their article. S. N. Prakasha and Prof. M. Veerabasavaiah attempted to examine the use of Internet by students of Dr. M.G.R. Fisheries College and Research Institution, Thalainayeru. Moreover, Mrs. H. R. Sushmaand and Dr. Ramesha studied awareness and use of web resources and services among the faculty members and researchers of Bangalore University through their articles.

An attempt has been made by P. Rajendiran, Y. S. Parihar, Indu Bhushan, J. K. Pattnaik, and Alpana Rajan to study the research publications of Raja Ramanna Centre for Advanced Technology. The perception of researchers on self-archiving is studied by Tejal Bhatte. Further, Danamma I Kurle, P G Tadasad, and Deepa R Kulkarni tried to find out the conceptualization about the sources of information by PG students and Research Scholars of KSAWU, Vijayapura in their article.

All these articles reviewed rigorously by experts. Hope this issue will be liked by all.
